“ Heaven received an angel today who will make the sun shine brighter and the moon glow larger. His smile would light up a room and his personality would make you instantly fall in love with him. Our family will miss Jeff terribly and I will miss the yearly Thanksgiving comment of 'How long does it take to cook a game hen' At our house not ever nearly long enough! He will always be our daughter's Godfather and now that term means more than I can convey in words. Please keep watch over your godchild and keep her safe from harm. Jeff, we love you and will miss you!
